

Miniature and micro spectrometers did not only replace classical spectrometers by bringing lab measurements to the field or the process line, they also open new applications where spectroscopy is not used today:

---

---

---

---

---

